

DEAR READER,

First of all, I would like to thank you for choosing to read Learning from the Best. I hope you enjoyed the book and it provided you with valuable ideas and reflections to put into practice in your personal and professional life.

In closing, I would like to ask for your honest opinion about the book. For anyone, the opinions of others are very important in buying a book to avoid wasting time or money.

For this reason, I thank you in advance for leaving me your assessment of the book in the form of a rating on any of the various online media you use (Amazon, Goodreads, Google Play, iTunes, or others). Feel free to express your opinion with complete honesty.

In return, I would like to offer you a special gift, a copy from my ebook 10 Golden Rules of Personal Branding, which I am sure you will enjoy and use to learn interesting ideas for your professional development.

Send me a screenshot of your review or comment to info@learningfromthebest.es and I will send you your gift. Be sure that your first and last name are visible with the review so I can verify your identity.

Likewise, I'm available to you at that email address if you'd like to comment on any other topic that may be of interest to you.

I wish you all the best.

Francisco Alcaide
